NEGOTIATIONS ON THROUGH AMERICAN EMBASSY TO SAVE OTTOMAN CAPITAL

Torpedoes Sent British And French Cruisers to Bottom—95 Towns And 4500 Villages Devastated By Germans In Invasion of Poland.

Associated Press.
London, March 20.—With the Black Sea fleet reported attacking the door of the Bosphorus and six allied battleships renewing the bombardment of the Turkish positions on the Dardanelles, the fate of the straits is today hanging in the balance. Nevertheless, the British are said to have supreme confidence in the impregnability of their position, which, it is claimed, have successfully sustained a bombardment of 21 days.
The report of the British Admiralty news of the sinking of three battleships, two British and one French, is rather hazy as to the results achieved by this sacrifice, and its weight to the growing belief that the straits will not be won unless the navy operations are supported by effective land forces.
The French Admiralty, while expressing the hope that some members of the crew of the battleship Bouvet have been saved, confirms reports from neutral sources that the French battleship Gaulois also suffered severely in the battle of March 18. The British battle cruiser Inflexible also reported to have been damaged by shell fire.

New York, March 20.—A passenger on board the steamer Parima, which arrived here today from the West Indies, said he had seen two life buoys in the water near Grenada with "Karlsruhe" on them.

German officers' caps have been picked up in the waters near Grenada, he said. It is reported in the West Indies, the passenger said, that the Karlsruhe had run ashore on a reef and had been blown up by her officers to escape capture.

FORTIFYING VERA CRUZ

By Associated Press.
Washington, March 20.—Carranza forces are digging trenches and fortifying Vera Cruz with a series of barbed wire stockades, apparently in anticipation of attack by the Villa-Zapata forces.

Several business men from Progress conferred with State Department officials today. They fear Carranza's occupation of the port, which they say, will make further business impossible by excessive taxation.

SHOTS FIRED BY MEN SUPPOSED TO BE STEALING

A little excitement was created on the Clark McCoy farm, between the Greenfield pike and Leesburg pike, about ten o'clock Friday night, when two men, supposed to have been stealing chickens, fired two shots, presumably toward Larry Ging, who had interrupted the men.

The men were heard crossing a field after chickens owned by Mr. Ging had been disturbed, and when challenged they answered gruffly and then fired two shots, after which they leaped into their rig and drove hurriedly toward this city.

Mr. Ging believes that a number of chickens were stolen from their roosting place near his home. A large number of fowls have been stolen in the neighborhood recently. No clue was left by the supposed thieves.

Trying to Sell an Automobile?

—or are you trying to buy one. A plain, friendly talk from business men to business men.

By Hugh Chalmers and James Levy

To Automobile Owners:

Most men who own motor cars in the class of the Chalmers cars ($1400 to $2400) are business men.

Many are in the farming business, but nearly all are in business of one kind or another.

Eighty-five per cent of each year's purchasers of motor cars are business men who are already owners of other motor cars.

Hence, they are in the market as a buyer of a motor car and as a seller of a motor car at the same time.

In fact, so many used cars are on sale each year, or up for a "trade-in" on a new motor car, that one of our dealers good naturedly said:

"Everybody is in the automobile business. Every time I sell a car I have to sell it in competition with 100 other manufacturers and 250,000 owners."

It is natural and proper that you should desire to purchase the best car for your use at the best price you can get.

It is just as natural and quite as proper that you should desire to sell or trade your old car to as great advantage as possible; but we know that the two issues are often confused to our detriment and we believe they are to yours.

Say that you were in need of a large quantity of material, or had a large order of any kind to place, it is natural for you to desire two things.

1st. To get the best price.

2nd. To give the business to some one who patronizes you.

But if you went out to sell some man your goods at the same time or as part of a deal for the purchase of his goods, wouldn't you put yourself immediately at a disadvantage?

Wouldn't you rather seek bids or prices on a basis of cost and service, and after you had made your selection from that strictly unbiased standpoint, endeavor to work in the sale of your own goods?

Now how does the owner usually buy a new motor car?

In just the opposite way.

He comes to the various dealers to sell us his old car rather than buy our new one, and many, many times, you hear the owner say, "I would much rather have had a car this year, but the people gave me more for my old car."

Now, no standard car manufacturer varies his price, and but few dealers do. The fluctuation, the "jockeying" comes in the exchange for the old car.

Many a $50 greater allowance for an old car, has cost $250 worth of new car to the owner.

But while such a loose screw in his business would arrest the business man's attention in a minute, it seems to get by him in the matter of purchasing a motor car, which is, however, none the less a business transaction.

One business man who noticed this peculiar bit of psychology, buys a new car each year.

He goes to each dealer in the class in which he is interested, as the buyer of a motor car.

The dealers vie with each other to sell him. They show him everything they have in the shop and put the best foot forward.

After he decides what car he wants—for cash—he brings up the subject of his old car.

Then he and the dealer endeavor to work out by trade, or by selling the old car for him—or by him selling it for himself—a satisfactory deal.

We sold him twice on this satisfactory basis—once he selected another car and they sold him on the same satisfactory basis.

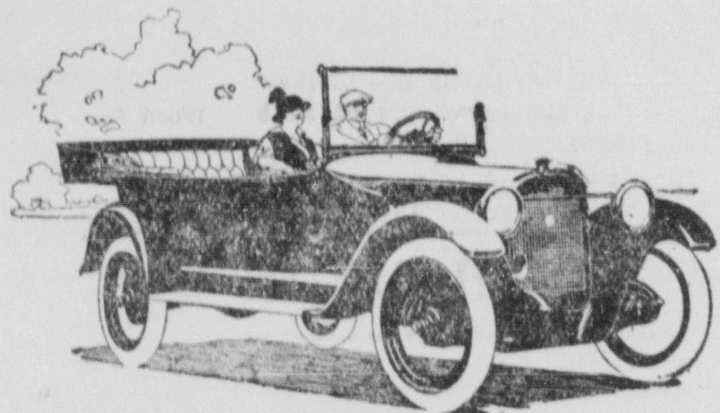

We don't expect to sell everybody a Chalmers car who looks at it, but we boast that we have never yet missed the sale of a car to a man who went through our factory—and there have been thousands of them.

We have, however, lost lots of sales on the basis of buying an old car to sell our new one, when we would have made the user a much better deal than he got if he had looked over the Chalmers with the critical view of buying a car, rather than selling one.

Of course, our attitude is admittedly self interested.

But isn't your self interest in the same place that ours is?

JAMES LEVY, President, Chalmers Motor Car Co. of Illinois.

Model 32 New Six-40—$1400

This new Chalmers Six is the result of a demand for a quality car at $1500 or less.

It is not a cheaper edition of the "Light Six" or the "Master Six."

Its type of construction is unique.

The motor is of unusually small bore and extra long stroke—high speed on minimum gasoline.

In material and workmanship also it is a Chalmers car—with all that means—at $1400.

Model 26 Light Six-48—$1650

This is probably the most popular Chalmers car. It is notably beautiful; mechanically perfect.

But in addition it has proved the most economical in monthly upkeep cost of any car in its division—$1500 to $2000.

Though it uses no more gasoline, oil or tires than many heavier cars, its great record is made by its economy in repair cost.

Will go anywhere and all the time.

The Master Six-54—$2400

This car can go 70 miles an hour without effort; but can also be throttled down to a snail's pace in crowded streets.

It is built in two bodies. The torpedo seats five people, has but a single door in the center on either side; the front seats are divided by an aisle and the lines are extremely racy and smart.

The body is a wonderfully handsome example of the foreign "boat" type design.

It is the Master Six of all its division.

Quality First

We recommend your coming in and talking it over. We also especially invite the ladies of your family to come and see the car, sit in the tonneau, ride in it. Our experience is that men buy largely from investigation, consideration, explanation, but ladies from appearance, comfort and the name it has among their friends. We are ready for either test—or both of them.

A Queen Elizabeth Joke.
Queen Elizabeth liked her jokes, and, although her pleasantries were of a less sanguinary turn than her father's, she must have been even more formidable than usual when disposed to be frolicsome. A tale may be found in one of Lord Essex's letters with regard to a new dress belonging to one of her maids of honor, over the possession of which the owner had been rash enough to exhibit some elation. The young lady, it seems, was several inches taller than her majesty, hardly perhaps quite a nice or loyal thing to be. Having desired that the dress should be made over to her custody, the queen, first carefully selecting an extremely wet day, was pleased to put it on and trail it for yards behind her in the mud, the owner of the humiliated garment having to appear as delighted with the royal fun and condescension as the rest of the lookers on.—London Tatler.

Who says New York thinks of nothing but business and money when a girl can afford to pay $12,120 rental for the privilege of selling flowers at a stand under the Brooklyn bridge terminal? In this one spot there must be every day a lavish outpouring not only of coin, but of thought and purpose upon the cult of beauty and tenderness and delicate sentiment. This item in the city's business dealings throws no faint sidelight upon the ideals and ways of New Yorkers.—New York Sun.

The Storm Of War

The clouds of war have grown blacker and more ominous during the last week. Instead of lifting measurably and permitting a ray or two of the bright light of peace and quiet which is behind them, to shine through on the world, the black shadows of the conflict in Europe are stretching across the seas to the new world and into the Orient.

There is fear that Japan is reaching out the arm of greed to secure territory and concessions in China, an act which the Mikado's government would not consider seriously in times of peace. Great Britain and France—allies of Japan—have already notified the government at Tokio that they will regard as unfriendly any attempt by Japan, at this time, to increase its territorial possessions or trade concessions in the Far East at the expense of China.

The United States is also quietly but carefully watching the movements of the Japanese and is in hearty accord with the warning given by Great Britain and France.

In that particular, as well as others, the European war would evidences the seriousness of the danger that the storm will spread and involve, nations now at peace.

The activities of the Germans, especially with the submarine boats, continues unabated, indeed if there is any change the destructive work of the German fleet of under-sea fighters is greater than ever before.

The passage of the Dardanelles is a task yet far from accomplished and the allied fleets of England and France are not making the progress in getting through to Russia that the world expected. Perhaps the experts, knowing the difficulties of the enormous task the allied fleet set for itself, are satisfied with the little progress made by the big battleships in the give and take fight with the shore batteries of the Turks along the narrow water-way, which leads to Constantinople and the capture of which means so much to England, France and Russia.

Desperation seems to have seized upon the surrounded nations who are fighting on land and sea with a brilliancy and success indicating that the war, with all its attendant dangers to countries at peace, is yet far from a conclusion.

Especially must those, who only hope for peace by the defeat of Germany, acknowledge that peace is yet a long way off. A summer of untold suffering, butchery and death seems certain and Lord Kitchener's gloomy prophecy early in the war that the fighting would only commence this summer, is being vindicated.

Courage in Legislative Action

The present state administration—the legislative branch of it, at least—in taking such action as will render the provisions of the Warnes tax law inoperative in listing and assessing property for taxation this year, has shown a commendable purpose to redeem campaign promises.

Political leaders and office holders are always fearful of assuming responsibility for changing the tax laws of the state and, as a rule, they have heretofore sought, on one pretext or another, to dodge that responsibility by making no changes in those laws at all or, if any change were necessary, to postpone them to inconsequential matters of detail and to postpone the time, when even those changes would become effective, to some remote date as possible.

The general assembly of two years ago furnished the first striking exception, in that regard, to the rule of delay and inaction, so long prevalent in Ohio.

The legislative body of two years ago, rolled up its sleeves, bravely speaking, and went into the matter of taxation with a determination to uproot the old system and establish a new one.

The result of following that determination by action was the Warnes law, about which the people of Ohio have heard so much during the last two years.

Under the Warnes law the property of the state was listed and assessed for taxation last year. That law was given a practical test and the results of that test are known. The law was attacked during the campaign last fall and the promise made, to those who insisted that the measure was iniquitous in some of its vital provisions, that, if entrusted with power, the law would be repealed and a new and radically different measure enacted.

Those who attacked the Warnes law were placed in power and given the opportunity, by the voters of the state to repeal the law and enact a new one. If they are correct "the sooner the Warnes law is repealed the better." If they have a better method of accomplishing the result sought the people of Ohio should have the benefit of that method and those who advocate it should have the credit which will be certain to follow satisfactory results of a practical test.

It is encouraging to see the legislature prove that it has the courage of its convictions and the political leaders in last year's campaign, give proof that they are not afraid to carry their promises into immediate fulfillment.

There is no reason to presume that the decisive action of any set back by the executive on whose desk the new law has been placed for approval or rejection.

In enacting a new taxation law effective this year the people will be afforded an opportunity before they are called upon to vote again, to judge of the merit of the two laws, according to the "best by test" rule, and that after all is what counts.

Poetry For Today

WOMEN AND WAR.
We women teach our little sons how wrong
And how ignoble blows are; school and church
Support our precepts and inoculate
The growing minds with thoughts of love and peace.
"Let dogs delight to bark and bite,"
We say;
But human beings with mortal souls
Must rise above the methods of the brute,
And walk with reason and with self-control.
And then, dear God! you men, you wise, strong men,
Our self-announced superiors in the brain,
Our peers in judgment, you go forth to war!
You leap at one another, mutilate,
And starve, and kill your fellow men,
And ask
The world's applause for such heroic deeds.
You boast and strut; and if no song is sung,
No laudatory pepic written in blood,
Telling how many widows you have made,
Why then, perforce, you say our bards are dead,
And inspiration sleeps to wake no more.
And we, the women, we, whose lives you are—
What can we do but sit in silent homes
And wait and suffer! Not for us the glare
Of trumpets and the bugle's call to arms—
For us no waving banners, no supreme
Triumphant hour of conquest. Ours the slow,
Dread torture of uncertainty, each day
The bloodless battle with the same despair.
And when at best your victories reach your ears,
There reaches with them to our pitying hearts
The thought of countless homes made desolate,
And other women weeping for their dead.
O, men, wise men, superior beings, say,
Is there no substitute for war in this Great age and era? If you answer, "No,"
Then let us rear our children to be wolves,
And teach them from the cradle how to kill.
Why should we women waste our time at work
In talking peace, when men declare for war?

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Resting the Stomach.
Abstinence from food for a short period is a very excellent method of treatment for dyspepsia and kindred digestive disturbances. A raging sick headache disappears after giving the stomach a rest by omitting to eat only one or two meals. It is common knowledge that a day or two of starving every two or three months enables one to do better work—more mental and physical work can be accomplished without fatigue. It is advisable, however, when on a hunger strike to drink water. Copious libations of hot water, several quarts during the waking hours, will contribute to the feeling of well being. The water may be taken a tumblerful or more every hour or two. Those persons who eat at irregular hours and partake of foods poorly cooked or of such a composition as to cause indigestion will find the mild form of starving for twenty-four hours or longer a practice worthy of trial, for the resulting after effects of the experiment will be gratifying. The rest (when one is on a hunger strike) given the digestive apparatus strengthens it and thus aids in conserving the health. A general feeling of rejuvenation invariably follows a few days' fasting.

Blasting With Water.

Water cartridges in place of dynamite cartridges, to blast out rock, have been developed so that they are now coming into use for mine or surface work where an ordinary explosive has disadvantages, such as fire or danger to people near by. Holes are drilled in the rock, as though for dynamite blasting, and the water cartridges shoved in like sticks of that explosive. The cartridges are steel cylinders with knobs along the side, so constructed that when water is pumped into the steel cylinder by a hand pump the side knobs will be pushed out. Enormous pressure can be exerted by slowly pumping water into the tubes, and consequently the knobs will be pushed out and out until they split the rock. This is only a new application of the old principle of the hydrostatic press.

POLICE HAVE GUN ALLEGED TO HAVE FIRED FATAL SHOT

LOCATE WEAPON AT HOME OF CHAS. BASIE NEAR GOOD HOPE AND HOLD IT AS EXHIBIT—GUN IS 44 CALIBER BEARING BELGIAN MARKINGS AND WIDOW OF MURDERED MAN SAYS JOHN BANTER TRADED SHOES FOR WEAPON FEW NIGHTS PREVIOUS TO MURDER.

The gun which is alleged to have been used by one of the Denner boys in killing John Bainter on the night of December 11th is now in the hands of Chief of Police D. L. Moore, who, in company with patrolman Baughn, Saturday morning went to the home of Chas. Basie, near Good Hope and there obtained the murderous weapon. Basie resides on the John Arnold farm.

The weapon, according to Basie, was traded to him by John Denner, between the 7th and 10th of January, Basie giving a shot gun in exchange for the weapon.

The gun is evidently of foreign make, and the fact that "Belgium" is stamped on the handle indicates that it was manufactured by a Belgian gun works, probably at Liege, and that while its companions were being used in the European war, the weapon was turned against Bainter with murderous intent.

Nickel-plated and showing the effects of many years hard usage, the weapon is without doubt one of the ugliest guns ever brought into a murder case as an exhibit. It is a 44 caliber, six inch barrel, five shot, and the stock or butt end contains a ring such as the old-style pistols carry.

On the cylinder of the gun are the letters "E. L. C." inscribed within a Belgian coat of arms.

A loaded cartridge removed from the gun measured exactly one and one-half inch in length, and the cartridge itself was exactly one-half inch in diameter. The ball in the gun was as large as the tip of a man's little finger.

Saturday morning Anna Bainter, widow of the murdered man, stated that the weapon alleged to have been used, was obtained from a colored man who resides on the mud road between the Waterloo and Circleville pikes. She stated that John Denner, following the trouble in which Bainter had snapped a gun at her the Sunday preceding the murder of Bainter, went to the residence of the colored man in question and traded a new pair of shoes and paid a sum of money in exchange for the weapon.

The gun will be retained by the police until the grand jury meets, after which it will be turned over to Prosecutor Maddox to be exhibited with the other damaging evidence in the trial.

ing into the cases coming before the body.

Up to the present time eight or nine cases will be examined into, including the three Denners, charged with the murder of John Bainter on the night of December 11th, last.

For the first three months of the year 1915 the number of crimes up for investigation have been unusually large.

GO TO KENTUCKY AND ARE MARRIED

Raymond Sheely, 22, farmer, and Bertha Annon, 33, were married in Covington, Kentucky, Friday.

The couple were refused a license in the local Probate Court Monday afternoon, because the bride-to-be had been awarded a divorce Saturday afternoon after informing Common Pleas Judge Carpenter that she had no intentions of marrying again at once.

Probate Judge Allen informed the couple that they could either bring mandamus proceedings to compel him to issue the license or go to Kentucky, and they went to Kentucky accordingly.

BAND MINSTRELS MAY PLAY IN THIS CITY

The Twentieth Century Band Minstrels will probably plan an engagement at Washington C. H., before giving its final performance in this city after Easter, should the guarantee list warrant the latter.

Investigation is now being made by the show's management regarding the Washington engagement and if this is secured the company will make the trip in a private car over the C. H. & D.

The car will leave here with the regular west bound C. H. & D. train in the afternoon of the show date and arrangements will be made to return the company that same evening.—Chillicothe News.

ANSWER FILED BY DEFENDANT

An answer to the petition and a motion to dissolve the temporary restraining order, were filed Friday afternoon in the case of L. Z. Arnold against George Grimm. E. L. Bush represents the defendant.

The defendant in his answer admits a portion of the allegations made are true, but denies the greater portion of the claims made, and places the blame for the trouble upon J. H. Taylor, of Mt. Sterling, whom the defendant states drew an agreement which the defendant supposed contained the proper articles of agreement, but which the defendant claims embodies radical departures from the original contract agreed upon between himself and the plaintiff.

Defendant states that instead of renting plaintiff all of his 223 acre farm, he rented him only 170 acres and made certain reservations for defendant's self, but which said Taylor failed to incorporate in the contract drawn and which both plaintiff and defendant are alleged to have signed without knowing the exact provisions of same.

Defendant asks that the temporary restraining order be dissolved and that the contract be reformed to contain the provisions originally agreed upon.

DOWNARD MAY BE RELEASED

Application has been made for the parole of Ollie Downard, from the Mansfield Reformatory, the hearing to be on or after April 13th

Downard is the man who was sentenced to the reformatory for breaking into the Acton Brothers store in Milledgeville in 1913. Downard is supposed to have shielded others who assisted him in the crime.

It will be recalled that Downard was a prisoner in the county jail at the same time John Bainter was being held upon a bootlegging charge, and Bainter's wife was a prisoner on another charge.

TOM THUMB WEDDING CHARMS LARGE AUDIENCE LAST NIGHT

HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM IS PACKED BY AUDIENCE WHICH APPLAUDS CLEVER WORK OF THE TINY TOTS IN PRESENTATION OF PRETTY LITTLE OPERETTA UNDER AUSPICES OF EPWORTH LEAGUE OF M. E. CHURCH.

The "Tom Thumb Wedding" might have been a real wedding from the eagerness with which the people poured into the High school auditorium Friday night and the Epworth League may well feel satisfied over putting on a novel and attractive entertainment that won the enthusiastic approval of the delighted audience.

Children are always popular, and the children chosen for the parts were so tiny and so cunning; their make-ups as "grown ups" so fetching, and the roles so happily taken, that the audience was charmed.

The curtain rose upon the stage banked with palms ready for the ceremony, seats at either side for the wedding guests.

Ralph Lloyd announced the guests as they appeared, the ladies on the arms of the small ushers in dress suits and the husbands in dutiful attendance. The guests included notables of the land and also of our own city, the small people assigned to the parts in an appropos fashion that brought down the house.

Before the arrival of the wedding party Anna Lee McFadden and Alice Parrett sang sweetly two songs of love and were followed by the wedding march played by Portia Brownell.

The bridal procession, led by the minister, in surplice, was so cunning that spontaneous applause drowned the wedding march.

A quartet of beautiful little maids, in trailing pink gowns, carrying nosegays of pink and white sweet peas, was followed by a quartet of darling tiny flower girls in white, carrying baskets of flowers.

A pretty maid of honor was followed by the "padlock bearer," and the father with the tiny bride on his arm, little Dorothy Sparks, the coyest and sweetest of brides in long train and veil, with shower bouquet. The handsome little bridegroom, "Billie" Ireland, with the best man joined the bride at the altar and the ceremony, a clever take off, proceeded.

The tiny tots in front of the altar formed a bridal tableau of rare pictorial charm.

Oliver Miller had the most difficult role, with a large amount to learn and did it perfectly. A singularly handsome little minister, his fine voice carried distinctly to every part of the room and his self possession was unusual.

The wedding party was composed of Miss Jennie June, the bride, Dorothy Sparks; Mr. Tom Thumb, groom, William Ireland; Minister, Oliver Miller; Padlock Bearer, Charles Robinson; Maid of Honor, Alice Elizabeth Ellis; Best Man, Victor Wright; Father of Bride, Ernest Snyder; Mother of Bride Helen Sunkle.

Maids—Kathryn Miller, Louise Finner, Dorothy Donohoe, Jean Worthington.

Flower Girls—Elizabeth Clino, Susie Tracey, Jean Martin, Kathleen Penn.

The ushers were Forest Ellis, Ralph Childs, Hugh Perrill, George Brownell, and the guests were Francis Marion Kennedy, Dorothy Allen, Ruth Jamison, Harry Zimmerman, Mamie Pencil, Forest Smith, Mary Alice Smith, Frank Karney, Jean Michael, Ralph Briggs, Helen Rodcker, Charles Hazard, Lillian Teeters, Robert Flee, Charlotte Hazard.

Invitation To Men

The Men's Class of the First Baptist Church will give a warm welcome to all newcomers Sunday morning. The career of the intrepid Jonathan will be discussed in a most interesting manner. We want your opinion. School will open at 9:15.

Norman Price, Marjorie Severs, George Pencil, Janet Whelpley, William Murry, Marjory Sparks, Henry Hoppes, Genevieve Price, Henry Brownell.

Part second, "The Quest of the Pink Parasol," a tuneful and pretty little operetta, was new and taking.

Alice Parrett and Helen Karney took leading roles as "Ruth" and the "Poppy Maid," gracefully and sang their songs effectively.

Nellie DeWitt, fair and tall, made an ideal Queen of the Fairies, and taking part as the poppies and the fairies were:

Poppies — Ruth Smith, Virginia Hays, Mabel Sunkel, Fern Shasteen, Ruth Tanquary.

Fairies — Donna Bowen, Mary Jane McCoy, Nellie Mark, Roma Brownell, Lucy Ramsay, Marjory Culberson, Mildred Todhunter.

Lawrence Beachdell was excellent in his role of the Gardner, his acting marked by musical naturalness.

Mrs. Frank Blessing played the evening's musical program.

Interspersing the two parts Miss Ethel Griffith, an extremely pretty young reader of the College of Music, of Cincinnati, gave two entertaining readings, child dialect their distinctive feature.

Miss Smith, of the Eldridge Entertainment Bureau, was entitled to praise for the successful putting on of the entertainment.

The Epworth League committee in charge included Mr. Gilbert Adams, Misses Ethel Calvert and Luella Riley.

SANDLES AND FISCHER WILL COME TO FAYETTE

At the instance of the Fayette County Fair Board a representative congress of farmers was secured Saturday afternoon to meet with the Board and give expression to a proposed reconsideration of the hog cholera eradication work which ceased lately.

The meeting was held in the common pleas court room. Besides members of the Fair Board about fifty farmers, including many of the most prominent in the county, were present.

The meeting was marked by spirited talks both in favor and against the work of the state veterinarians, the contenders in favor having the greater support.

Mr. Howard Hagler of the Fair Board was the first to address the assemblage. Mr. Hagler stated that he believed that Mr. A. P. Sandles of the Agricultural Commission and Dr. Paul Fischer, state veterinarian, should be invited before Fayette county farmers to discuss the situation. He stated that he believed, in view of circumstances, that there was a misunderstanding that such a meeting would help clear up. He put his suggestion in the form of a motion, and it was seconded. As a result an urgent invitation will be sent to Mr. Sandles and Dr. Fischer to meet with Fayette farmers on March 30, next stock sale day, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the place to be announced later.

Mr. R. C. Hunt, next speaker, criticised the work of the doctors, branding it as "inconsistent and impractical" and advanced arguments to support his contention.

Mr. James Ford took an opposite stand, commending the work of the doctors and urging that Fayette county be allowed a chance at the $150,000 federal appropriation.

F. E. Eichelberger of Jefferson township, president of the Corn Improvement Society, was the next speaker and his remarks were frequently applauded. Mr. Eichelberger stood in defense of the eradication work in Fayette county and urged that a reconsideration be effected.

At the close of his talk Mr. Eichelberger was challenged by the assertion that "more hogs have been infected during the work than ever before." He responded immediately with the amendment — "and less lost."

George Smidley, of New Holland, also made a virulent defense of the eradication work. He attributed the dissent among farmers more to jealousy than anything else and stated that many, like himself, were experiencing a change of heart. Following further spirited discussion by Dr. Neil B. Jones, Roy Heglar, Horace Wilson, Ed Cockerill and Howard Hagler, the motion carried without a dissenting voice.

The following committee of non-fair board members was named to arrange for the meeting: Floyd Eichelberger, Rollo Marchant, E. M. Haines, Chas. R. McLean, Frank Parrett, Roy Hagler and R. C. Hunt.

OFFICIAL IS INVOLVED

New York, March 20.—Those who heard Richard Peter Stegler sentenced to two months on Blackwell's Island by Judge Cushman for conspiring to obtain a fraudulent passport were startled by the declaration of Stegler's lawyer, Charles H. Griffiths, that a certain official representing the German government in this city had inspired Stegler to get the passport so that he (Stegler) might go to England and act as a German spy. "Unfortunately," said Mr. Griffiths, "this representative of the German government is immune to arrest, otherwise I could show you in this very court that he led Stegler on, but Stegler is the only instigator of the plot that the law can reach."

TO THE POINT

Louis Feinstein died at his home in New York when his long beard caught fire from a stove.

Pittsburg capitalists are buying thousands of tons of coal slack from Ohio mines, to be used in the manufacture of aniline dyes.

Elias A. Walden, who shot to death Joseph M. Skain, manager of the Phoenix hotel at Lexington, Ky., and mortally wounded himself, is dead.

At New Lexington, O., the lifeless body of Harry Wilson, twenty-six, a mute, was found at the county infirmary. It is supposed he jumped from a third-story window.

RUSSIANS INVADE AT 2 POINTS

Russian Forces Again Operating In East Prussia.

HOLD BACK DRIVE TO WARSAW

Fighting In the Carpathians Locks Up a Great Force of Austrians and Germans, While Przemyśl, In East Galicia, Is Reported Tottering—Believed Grand Duke Will Soon Initiate a Tremendous Drive.

London, March 20.—The Russians are once again over the East Prussian border at two points north of the Niemen. They have strong forces advancing on Suwalki and they have other strong forces said to be allowing the Germans to exhaust themselves in a futile bombardment of Ossowiec. All that is in the territory north of the Vistula and west of the Borzh and the Narew.

On the left bank of the Vistula an effective force is holding off a direct drive on Warsaw along the Bzura. Farther south another German force is against a stone wall trying to work northeast towards Warsaw. Still farther south, in East Galicia, Przemyśl is trembling towards a fall. In the Carpathians the fighting, which is an attack and counter attack, simply locks up a great force of Austrians and Germans, and in addition to that there are great Russian reserves in the fortified towns along the Narew and the Vistula south around Warsaw, all waiting for the moment when the grand duke will call upon them to initiate a tremendous drive. Whether this will be towards Koenigsburg or over the Carpathians into the plains of Hungary towards Budapest, no one knows, but its pressure will be enormous, it is believed, when it is exerted.

Occupation by the Russians of Memel, a German port on the Baltic is announced. Memel is a town of considerable importance in northeastern Prussia and the presence there of the Russian forces is taken by military observers here to indicate that the Russian generals have decided to attempt a big sweep down through East Prussia in an endeavor to compel the Germans to fall back from northern Poland.

The Germans have started an offensive in central Poland, where they have commenced an attack on the Russians in the region of the Pilica river.

OHIO BRIEFS

Harmon Requests Probe.

Cincinnati, March 20.—On demand of former Governor Harmon, one of the receivers for the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway company, an inquiry will be made into charges made in the United States district court here that the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western railway had not received a fair division of the earnings accruing to it by reason of its domination by the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway.

Ohio Quarantine Changed.

Washington, March 20.—An order issued by the department of agriculture governing the federal foot and mouth disease quarantine makes extensive changes, effective March 22. Nearly all the changes are made because of improved conditions in Ohio. The following counties become restricted areas: Crawford, Deane, Marion, Muskingum, Union and Williams.

Results In Mistrial.

Cincinnati, March 20.—The jury in the case of George A. Hiles, for second degree murder for the killing of George Hester on Jan. 25, was discharged by Judge Nippert when it reported after nearly five hours' deliberation that it could not possibly agree on a verdict.

Merchant Burned to Death.

Marietta, O., March 20.—H. H. Palmer, a merchant, was burned to death when his store, in which he lived, was destroyed by fire. Frederick Hoskins and John Wolfert were struck by a falling chimney while trying to rescue Palmer and both were badly hurt.

ACT OF TRADE COMMISSION IS EXAMINED

Activities of Department of Justice Will Not Be Curtailed.

Washington, March 20.—Attorney General Gregory and his advisors in the department of justice have been engaged in an examination of the trade commission law with a view of determining the extent to which the activities of the department will be curtailed by those of the new commission.

As a result of this study of the new law, the department of justice will tell the stand that its activities are not to be curtailed to any appreciable extent, but that the chief work of the commission, as far as the enforcement of the laws is concerned, lies in the classes of cases not covered by the old Sherman law, but still within the scope of the "unfair" trade practice provisions of the Clayton act.

In other words, the department regards itself as fully responsible for the enforcement of the provisions of the Sherman law against the formation of combinations to monopolize interstate commerce, while it believes the trade commission will have special jurisdiction over alleged illegal operations of smaller range and which can not be regarded as contemplating a monopoly. Official assurances were given that the department will show the fullest spirit of co-operation with the commission and will seek its assistance wherever it is considered proper to do so under the provisions of the law.

ADMIRAL CARDEN REPORTED KILLED

London, March 20.—A report is current in London that Vice Admiral Carden, commander of the Anglo-French fleet at the Dardanelles, has been killed, although the official account of the operations at the strait states that he is ill and has been relieved temporarily by Rear Admiral John Michael De Robeck.

FLOATING MINES SINK WARSHIPS

Allied Fleet Pounding Dardanelles Sustains Serious Loss.

THREE BATTLESHIPS BLOWN UP

British Sea Fighters Irresistible and Ocean and the French Battleship Bouvet Are Totally Wrecked, Nearly All of the Crew of the Latter Being Lost—Vessels to Be Replaced and the Bombardment Resumed.

London, March 20.—The admiralty announced that the British battleships Ocean and Irresistible and the French battleship Bouvet struck floating mines in the Dardanelles March 18 and were sunk. Most of the men on the Bouvet were lost, but it is said that practically all the crews of the British warships were saved.

This is the most serious loss sustained by the Anglo-French fleet under Vice Admiral Carden, which has been bombarding the straits forts intermittently for more than two months, and has been increased until it is now the most powerful aggregation of fighting ships ever assembled for war purposes. The three ships went down during a furious cannonading, in which the French battleship Gaulois was put out of commission by the Turkish guns.

The disaster, it is announced, will not interfere with the Dardanelles operations. The lost ships will be replaced and the attack on the forts will be carried on.

The French ministry of marine, in a statement telling of the sinking of the Bouvet and the two British ships, telegraphed here stating that the attack on the Turkish defenses will not be interrupted. The French minister of marine has already sent orders to the battleship Henry IV., now off the coast of Syria, to proceed to the Dardanelles and take the place of the Bouvet. The French statement follows:

The Official Report.

"In the course of the operations in the Dardanelles during the day of March 18, the naval forces of the allies were subjected to very heavy fire and some of the ships struck floating mines in the strait. The French and British battleships bombarded violently the forts of Kilit Bahr, Chanak, Kalesi, Suan Dere, Dardanos and the Kephez Point. The results obtained during this day of great activity cost us heavy losses. The Bouvet was sunk, following the explosion of a mine. The Gaulois is out of commission as the result of damage caused by the enemy's fire. The British fleet also suffered, two of its battleships having been sunk by mines. These losses, however painful, will not check the operations. Information regarding the fate of the crew of the Bouvet is still lacking. It is known that part of the crew was saved."

The mines in the Dardanelles have proved a much greater menace to the allied fleet than the numerous forts, and naval authorities have predicted that as soon as the strait was cleared of that danger the passage would soon be forced. Grimby trawlers and French fishing boats have been sent to the scene in large numbers and have been engaged night and day in sweeping the channel clear. At one time the task was almost completed, but recently the Germans and Turks have adopted the plan of launching floating mines, which come down against the ships with tremendous force, swept at the rate of nearly ten miles an hour by the strong current from the Sea of Marmora.

The Irresistible was a battleship of 15,603 tons, commanded by Captain Stanhope Hawk, who had a crew of 750 men. She was built in 1897, had a speed of 18.2 knots, had a main battery of four 12-inch guns and twelve 6-inch guns, and also sixteen 3-inch guns, six 3-pounders, two machine guns and four torpedo tubes.

STEAMER DACIA MAY BE RELEASED

Washington, March 20.—The former German steamship Dacia, now in custody of a French prize court because the French government challenges the validity of the vessel's transfer to the American flag, may soon be on the high seas again under the American flag. It was learned that a request for the release of the Dacia under bond is being made to the French government on behalf of the present owners of the vessel.

MRS. ANGLE ACQUITTED

Bridgeport, Conn., March 20.—The shadow of the mysterious death of Waldo R. Ballou was lifted by the jury from Mrs. Helen M. Angle. She was acquitted of the charge of manslaughter. The verdict was followed by a scene of almost hysterical excitement, caused partly by the fact that the finding was unexpected to many who had listened to the summing up of State's Attorney Cummings and the coldly analytical charge of Judge Williams. Mrs. Angle never doubted for a moment that she would be freed, but her attorneys feared a disagreement. The verdict was applauded by the spectators.

TAX AND OTHER LAWS HIT

Point Raised That Emergency Measures Have Been Passed by a Majority Instead of Two-thirds Vote. Beidler Tax Proposition Among the Measures That May Be Declared Void—Doings of the Assembly.

Columbus, March 20.—An opinion by Attorney General Turner, about to be rendered to the governor and the legislature, may hold void some of the laws of the last legislature and some of the work of the present session, including the knocking out of the Beidler emergency tax bill, now ready for signature, and requiring this year's assessments to be made by means of the Warnes law machinery.

The point raised is that the Democratic legislature in 1913 set a wrong precedent in passing bills by majority vote, passing emergency clauses by two-thirds vote, and then attaching the clause to the bill and calling it an emergency law, which need not be held up for ninety days for opportunity to file a referendum petition. It is contended that the constitution prescribes just the reverse procedure; that an emergency bill must be passed by two-thirds vote and the separate vote on the section giving the reasons for the alleged emergency needs only a majority vote.

John F. Kramer, minority leader of the house, who was a member of the constitutional convention, and Edward W. Hughes, house parliamentarian, were among those who thought the wrong procedure had been followed, and that to be a valid emergency measure there must be a two-thirds vote on the bill itself. The question has never been presented to the courts.

Threatens Beidler Bill.

Without an emergency vote the Beidler bill will go to the waste basket, for it must go into operation by April 1, if at all. The Democrats took the course of voting against the bill and then voting for the emergency clause. If faced by a new contingency they vote for a substitute for the Beidler bill, this temporary measure can be used. Otherwise the Warnes district assessors will do the assessing in 1915. The Republicans are shy two votes in the senate and nine votes in the house of a two-thirds majority.

Governor Willis has signed four bills having emergency clauses, but it was said all of these bills received two-thirds vote and so are safe.

Representative Totman of Athens introduced the Bible reading bill advocated by the Cincinnati Ministerial association. It is not mandatory, but permits the reading of the Bible in public schools and permits the giving of study credits for Bible study.

Dr. Deaton of Miami finally won his fight to have his county uniform text book bill reported to the house favorably by the school committee.

Representative O. J. Thatcher of Clinton, author of the 2½ cent fare bill, urged its passage as a Republican measure. He claimed the measure would improve business conditions in the state.

BURTON'S FAREWELL

New York, March 20.—Former United States Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, guest of honor at a luncheon of the Pan-American society on the eve of his departure for South America, delivered an address in which he said that present conditions throughout the world had made it possible for the United States to assume and maintain the leading role in the world's civilization. Senator Burton discussed the opportunities for improving trade relations between this country and South America and the need of cultivating the friendship and good will of Latin-American countries.

Eating Too Much.

The Lancet, the great English medical paper, says that Englishmen and Americans eat too much. It especially advises people of middle age and older to practice self restraint in the matter of food. "As the fire of life burns less fiercely and the output of energy is smaller," says the writer, "so the fuel supplied should be reduced that the system may not be clogged with ashes and half burnt cinders, whereby the activity of the whole machine is from time to time impaired and may even be prematurely arrested."

IGNORING RIGHTS OF FOREIGNERS

Mexican Chiefs Use Holdup Methods of Obtaining Money.

Washington, March 20.—With Generals Villa, Carranza and Obregon and some lesser lights in Mexico showing a disposition to collect money in the regions in which they are operating without regard to the rights of foreigners, another problem is pressing for solution by the United States in connection with the affairs of the unhappy republic.

At Monterey, a few days ago, Francisco Villa felt the irresistible impulse to take monies belonging to foreigners, and it became known that earlier he tried for an "enforced loan" on the residents of Guadalajara. Near Guadalajara, Americans have large interests, including a mine, in which James W. Gerard, American minister to Germany, has extensive holdings. A protest went up at Guadalajara and Villa withdrew his demand for money.

Now it is stated that while Villa may use "holdup" methods of obtaining money, he plans to attain the same results by different methods. According to information received here he intends to levy various forms of taxation in such manner as not to leave ground for complaint on the part of foreigners. The tax will be assessed on all forms of property on a percentage basis. Villa's attempt to raise $500,000 from the foreigners and churches at Monterey will not be pressed, officials here said.

FREE SWIMMING LESSONS AROUSE GREAT INTEREST

INSTRUCTIONS TO BE GIVEN AT Y. M. C. A. TANK MONDAY, WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY MORNINGS OF NEXT WEEK ARE FREE TO ALL BOYS BETWEEN 10 AND 18 YEARS OF AGE—REQUIREMENTS ARE THAT BOYS PRESENT COUPONS AND THAT THEY DO NOT ALREADY KNOW HOW TO SWIM.

Quite a deal of interest has been aroused in the announcement made by the Y. M. C. A. through the Daily Herald Wednesday that it would conduct free swimming lessons for boys at the Y. M. C. A. tank Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings of next week and for the benefit of the boys who missed the coupon in Wednesday's issue the Herald is carrying it again today.

This coupon, properly signed, will entitle any boy between the ages of 10 and 18 years, who does not already know how to swim, to enter in Monday's class for the free lessons. The lessons will be held between 10 and 11 o'clock and the coupons for Wednesday's and Friday's lessons will be published in the Tuesday and Thursday issues of the Herald respectively. The coupons are to be presented at the Y. M. C. A. The lessons are for all boys, whether members of the Y. M. C. A. or not.

An interesting article, giving several strong reasons why a boy should learn to swim is submitted by Physical Director J. W. McClung, and is as follows:

"Nearly 5,000 persons lost their lives by accidental drowning in the United States during the year of 1914 and 80 per cent of that number were men and boys.

"Strange as it may seem, many who are daily exposed to the dangers of drowning are unable to swim at all, and it is estimated that over 25 per cent of all the men and boys over 12 years of age in the United States do not know how to swim, and the percentage is much larger when applied to all ages and sexes.

"Everyone should know how to swim; for three reasons: It is a splendid recreative form of exercise from a physiological standpoint, for it results in improved health, accompanied by ease and grace of carriage; it creates a spirit of self reliance and courage, which becomes an element in a man's character, increasing his power both for good and against evil; and finally, the most important of all, it may be the means of saving some one's life.

"Realizing this the Young Men's Christian Association of Washington C. H. will conduct a county wide swimming campaign for boys from the age of 10 to 18 years inclusive, and the slogan shall be 'Every boy in Fayette county a swimmer.'

During the spring vacation is a good time to learn. The Y. M. C. A. has set aside for this purpose the mornings of Monday, Wednesday and Friday, beginning at 10 o'clock. The lessons are open to all boys of the above ages that cannot swim, and there will be no charge. All that is required of the boy is to bring the coupons appearing in the Herald."

HON. JOHN J. LENTZ WILL SPEAK HERE

A great deal of interest is being centered in the coming big open meeting of the A. I. U. fraternal order to be held at Memorial Hall on Wednesday evening, March 31st.

The work will be exemplified by the Ladies' Degree staff of Chillicothe Chapter No. 165, A. I. U. The team is composed of twenty members among the degree teams of the state.

The speakers on this occasion will be Hon. John J. Lentz, national president; Dr. Geo. W. Hoglan, national secretary and Dr. W. J. Means, national surgeon.

Two thousand invitations will be issued. Five new members took the obligation Friday evening.

MAY CONSTRUCT RETAINING WALL

The County Commissioners are planning to have a retaining wall constructed along the west side, or Main street side, of the court house terrace in order to prevent the terrace from washing down upon the sidewalk.

In all probability the terrace wall will be constructed of concrete and will be erected the coming spring.

A petition asking the commissioners to have the sidewalk placed in better condition and to remove the trees along the curb, was presented to the commissioners. Action on the petition was deferred.

DEPUTY SMITH INSPECTS ELKS

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Jess W. Smith Friday evening conducted the annual inspection of the local order of Elks in Elks' Hall. Mr. Smith paid a high compliment to the local order in an address in which he stated that, proportionately speaking, the Washington lodge was doing more for charity than any other in the state of Ohio.

LILLIAN RUSSELL AT PALACE

The movie patrons of this city will see for the first time here the famous legitimate star, Lillian Russell in one of her greatest stage successes "Wildfire." For years Miss Russell has been a prime favorite among the theater going public of this and foreign countries.

"Wildfire" will be shown at the Palace Wednesday, March 24th.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS

A meeting of the Athletic Association was called Tuesday afternoon to decide whether W. H. S. should support track or baseball this spring. Track carried by a vote of 30 to 2.

The first of the week the Juniors held a meeting and discussed various activities. They chose for their colors old rose and silver and decided to arrange a banquet for the Seniors. Several committees were appointed, including those on finance, reception and decorating.

At a meeting of the Senior class plans for the Annual were discussed. The work is well under way and about 300 sales subscribed.

Mr. McClung, who is to coach the track team this spring, called a meeting of all track candidates Wednesday. About 20 of them responded and among them is some promising material. Mr. McClung discussed prospects and gave the class general directions.

The first meet this year will be at Wilmington college on May 7. The first practice of candidates was held Thursday.

A great commotion resulted Friday when, despite the snowstorm two eccentric male pupils appeared in straw hats.

The 14th annual Freshman bazaar was held Thursday and Friday of this week, and surpassed by far all previous endeavors. The Freshmen took in $115 of which about $70 is clear. This money goes to finish the Parthenon Frieze in the assembly room of the High school.

Photographers were busy this week taking pictures of Freshmen, Sophomores and Junior classes and the football and basketball teams. The pictures will appear in the Annual.

SOLDIERS PASS THROUGH CITY

A tourist sleeper filled with soldiers presumably from the Columbus barracks, was attached to B. & O. train No. 107 Friday evening.

The soldiers are supposed to have been bound for the Mexican border, either to relieve men now stationed there, or to swell the numbers which have been encamped along the border for many months.

TAYLOR BROS. TRADE LAND FOR CITY REALTY

The Beggs Realty Co. announced last week that the Brice Barber shop, located at 37 North High street, had been traded by its owner, Charles J. Brice, to Taylor Brothers, formerly of Bloomingburg, Ohio, for 124 acres of land in Union and Logan counties valued at $125 an acre. The total consideration was $15,500. E. B. and E. L. Taylor have already taken possession of the Brice shop and will hereafter operate it as Taylor Brothers. The head barber, Frank White, who has been with Brice and was formerly with Phil Lang, the former owner, will remain in charge of the barbers under the Taylor management.

Taylor Brothers announce that every modern convenience will be installed in the shop and a number of new features will be added, which will make the barber shop one of the most complete in Columbus.—Columbus Citizen.

FOUND GUILTY OF CHARGE PREFERRED

William Vaughn, of near Hillsboro, arrested for contributing to the delinquency of Susie Easter, 15-year-old girl who was arrested by patrolman Baughn in this city several days ago, was tried before Probate Judge Worley, of Hillsboro, a day or two ago, and found guilty. Sentence was not announced.

The girl was arrested in this city upon complaint of her father, and upon her return home was tried for delinquency. Her 17-year-old sister also was tried on a similar charge. Connie Gressinger, of near Leesburg, is implicated in the trouble.

C. H. & D. REPORT SHOWS DEFICIT

A net income deficit of $184,411.45 is shown in the report of Receivers Judson Harmon and Rufus B. Smith of the income account of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway Company for the month of January, 1915, filed in the United States District Court in the case of The Bankers' Trust Company et al. vs. The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway Company.

The report of cash receipts and disbursements for the month shows the receipts to have been $1,479,- 681.84, which, with cash on hand January 1, 1915, amounting to $103,472.47, makes a total of $1,583,154.31. The disbursements for the period totaled $1,264,329.61, leaving a balance on January 31, 1915, of $318,824.70.

The income account shows a total operating revenue of $672,515.56 and total operating expenses of $735,388.27, a deficit of $62,872.71. Tax accruals and uncollectable railway revenue of $34,585.21 swells the deficit to $97,457.92, which other income reduces to $81,842.74. Deductions from the gross income for hire of equipment, rentals of leased road and facilities and miscellaneous total $99,568.71, leaving the net income mentioned above.

SUNDAY TRAINS SOON WILL BE RESTORED

Beginning Sunday, April 4th, the four passenger trains on the C. H. & D., removed early in the winter because of lack of patronage, will be restored.

The company expects that by the first of April the public will patronize the road more liberally, and the Sunday trains will make expenses.

Restoration of the Sunday service will be welcomed by a great many local citizens, as well as persons along the entire route of the Wellston division.
